Note

From right to left, the Supreme Names are given from 1-385, first, in each of their chronologies; second, the Name itself; third, its numerical value; and, fourth, on the far left occurs the day in the NUR calendar each Name corresponds to. Each seven days with its Name is divided among the i. four elements (Air, Fire, Water and earth), ii. one of the four formulas of the Theophanic Praise of Fāṭima and iii. the realm-world that each of the seven correspond to. These are indicated in the center column. All the Names occur in Form III as the principle of the Name. Further information in English is provided in the four endnotes together with translation of all 385 Supreme Names.

Notes

[1] The 2nd gate of the 13th Unity of the Persian Bayān: "...just as with the [361 Names of the Book of the] Names of All-Things [by the Primal Point], 364 Names from The Book of the Supreme Names from 'It/He' (hū) to 'Pardoner' (ʿāfī) are specific to each one of the days of the [364 day NUR] year, and the next 21 Names from the 'Giver of Resplendence/Loftiness (shāmikh) to the 'Talismanically-potent' (badūḥ) specify 21 degrees in three divisions of each year; meaning, the beginning of each year, the middle of each year and the ending of each year which is a mirroring-silouhette and reflection to the reality of 'You, I, He'. And likewise the first seven days of each [NUR] month correspond to the element Air, glorification (tasbīḥ) and the divine realm (lāhūt); the next seven days to the element Fire, praise (taḥmīd) and the Empyrean of power (jabarūt); the next seven days to the element Water, testification to the divine unicity (tahlīl) and the angelic world (malakūt); and the final seven to the element earth, magnification (takbīr) and the dominion (mulk)..." or nāsūt (the material realm). Note that this does not override what has already been delineated of the NUR calendar nor the associations and correspondences associated therein which have been elaborated in Liber Nomeni Angelis. Rather it supplements and amplifies the material already given, adding yet another layer to it. That stated, as should be somewhat apparent by now, the metaphysics of the NUR calendar is in many ways a fusion of the two calendars by the Primal Point and Subḥ-i-Azal but raised, as it were, to a higher octave. Like The Book of the Names of All-Things, all the Names in the The Book of the Supreme Names are taken in their principle in Form III.
